Dual Admission

What does Dual-Admit mean?

Dual-Admission is a student-focused agreement between Brookdale Community College and Georgian Court University that allows students to be admitted simultaneously into both Brookdale Community College and Georgian Court University, assuring a smooth credit transfer. In fact "Dual-Admit" students are guaranteed admission (assuming the student meets the admissions requirements) and hold a reserved spot in the Georgian Court University program. This means that the students in the dual-admit program are assured that the classes they take at Brookdale will satisfy general education and other course requirements of the bachelor's degree program (if the student follows the approved degree plan) and that graduation requirements will not change, (certain time limits apply) ensuring that they move towards a bachelor's degree seamlessly. By choosing to begin the bachelor's degree program at Brookdale and with the tuition discount for the Communiversity program, students could make their education much more affordable.

What are the benefits?

- Each semester, the student will have the opportunity to meet with Georgian Court admissions counselors and faculty members and will receive special advising
- The student will be invited to activities (guest speaker, etc.) at Georgian Court's Lakewood campus as appropriate to the student's major field of study
- The student may arrange to sit in on a Georgian Court class
- The students will achieve both an Associate's Degree and a Bachelor's Degree and will maximize the transferability of credits by following the approved degree plan.
- The student has a reserved spot in the bachelor's degree program (assuming s/he meets the admission requirements)
- Graduation requirements will not change (unless changed by the state or an accrediting body) ensuring a seamless transition towards a bachelor's degree (certain time limits apply)
- The Georgian Court application fee is waived
- Brookdale will send the Brookdale transcript to Georgian Court free of charge and automatically
- Brookdale and Georgian Court will carefully monitor the student's progress to help the student earn the bachelor's degree efficiently

Who is eligible to participate?

All currently enrolled Brookdale students prior to their last semester of their associate's degree are eligible to participate in the Dual-Admit program. However, students should enroll at the earliest possible time to ensure they are following the articulated curriculum. Students not eligible to participate in the Dual-Admit program may still apply to the Communiversity/Georgian Court program and enjoy many of the same benefits such as discounted tuition, high-quality program, assurance that Brookdale credits applicable to the degree plan will transfer, personalized advisement and convenient small classes located at the Communiversity in Wall Township.

How do I learn more?

Please call the Communiversity at 732-280-7090 for more information. Information Sessions about the Georgian Court/Communiversity Program will be offered twice a month facilitated by a Georgian Court Admission Counselor. During the Information Sessions, students will have the opportunity to learn about admission requirements, program overview, benefits of Dual-Admission, and smooth transfer.

- You are strongly recommended to make an appointment with a Brookdale Counselor

Structure of Psychology Part of Program:

Six required core courses comprise eighteen of the 36 hours needed for the psychology major. Two of these courses form the foundation for the major: Introductory Psychology (=Brookdale's PSYC105 or 106) and Issues in Psychology. Multicultural Psychology is a junior-level required course examining social behavior across cultures. Three upper-level required courses, 1) Applied Statistics and Research Methods [Brookdale's PSYC245 is taken in lieu of Applied Statistics and Research Methods] OR Experimental Psychology, 2) Cognitive Psychology or Psychology of Learning, and 3) Senior Seminar, provide an opportunity to integrate knowledge from various course areas.

At Communiversity, Georgian Court offers its Mental Health and Human Services Option in the B.A. in Psychology program. This degree prepares students for employment in a mental health or human services setting. It is also recommended for students interested in pursuing graduate study in fields such as counseling or clinical psychology. Students take 21 credits of Georgian Court Psychology courses: Issues in Psychology, Introduction to Career Psychology, Multicultural Psychology, Basic Counseling, Cognitive Psychology or Psychology of Learning, Field Experience I, and Senior Seminar. In addition, it is strongly recommended that students take the following 6 Georgian Court elective courses: Clinical Methods, Field Experience II, Psychology of the Exceptional Child, Behavior Modification, Mental Health (offered by the Social Work Department), or Deviance (offered by the Sociology Department).

How to Apply:

Dual-Admit applications are available from the Communiversity, Transfer/Articulation Office, Counseling Department, and the Counseling, Admissions, and Registration (CAR) Building. Students who participate in the Dual Admission program do not need to submit an application apart from the Dual-Admit application. Students who are not eligible to participate in the Dual-Admit Program can download an application at www.georgian.edu or call the Communiversity for a paper application.

Application Deadlines:

Students may apply to the Dual-Admit Program at any time prior to their last semester at Brookdale. However, students should enroll at the earlier possible time to ensure they are following the articulated curriculum. Priority deadlines for students not participating in the dual-admit program are August 1 for Fall.

Part-Time/Full-Time:

While this program is currently designed as a co-educational, full-time evening program, students may choose to attend on a part-time basis. Students attending part-time are advised of the possibility that they may experience course schedule conflicts that delay degree progress. GCU is not responsible for resolving such conflicts.

Location:

Most required courses are offered at the Communiversity located in Wall Township, NJ, or online. Any courses not available at the Communiversity location can be completed at Georgian Court's Lakewood Campus.

Tuition:

$611/credit, plus semester fees. Full-time tuition (for 12 cr) would be $7,332 per semester, which is a 45% discount from the Lakewood rate (2011-2012 academic year; tuition subject to change each year).

What can I expect upon applying to Georgian Court University?Admission Decision Letter:

Approximately 3-4 weeks after submitting a complete application but may vary during the busy seasons, (*A complete application includes application, application fee, official high school transcripts/GED, and all previous college transcripts) you will receive confirmation that application was completed and is being reviewed. You will receive a preliminary transfer evaluation with your decision letter.

*For students participating in the Dual-Admit program, the application fee is waived.

Transfer Evaluation:

A preliminary transfer credit evaluation will be sent to you with your decision letter. Georgian Court strongly encourages student to use NJTransfer.org prior to their transfer evaluation session or order to receive an approximation of their transfer credits. Graduates of an accredited New Jersey community college who have earned an A.A. or A.S. degree with a cumulative GPA of at least 2.0 and have completed the general education requirements established in the statewide agreement will transfer those general education credits in full to satisfy a minimum of 45 (A.A.) or 30 (A.S.) credits of the Georgian Court General Education Requirements. Only courses in which a grade of "C" or higher has been achieved are eligible for transfer. Courses transferred as part of the community college's general education program that have Georgian Court general education equivalents will be transferred as those equivalent courses. Other general education courses required by the community college will be transferred as general education electives. If an equivalency is not transferred, all three of the following Georgian Court general education courses must be taken: a designated Religious Studies course (Discovering the Bible or Christian Tradition), the Shaping Lives: Women and Gender course, and a junior-level Philosophical Ethics or Theological Ethics course. Students who have not earned a total of 43 credits in the general education area after completing the three courses listed above must earn the remaining general education credits by choosing courses that satisfy general education categories for which the students did not transfer equivalent courses.

All students must also satisfy the following Georgian Court graduation requirements: 1 cr Transfer Student Seminar, 1 cr in activity-based Physical Education (should be transferred), and Experiential Learning (two approved experiences must be successfully completed: one must be a designated course that has a service learning component ; the second must be an internship, a designated study abroad or travel abroad experience, or another course with a service learning component).

*For students participating in the Dual-Admit program, the Admission Decision letter will be sent upon receipt of the Dual-Admit application.

*As the progress of the Dual-Admit students will be closely monitored, a transfer evaluation/progress check will be completed once a semester.

#In order to be a full-time student for financial aid purposes when enrolled in a Georgian Court University Communiversi program, undergraduate students will need to be enrolled in at least 12 Georgian Court University credits.

Students who have completed appropriate prerequisites may take GCU courses offered at Communiversi that are not part of the Psychology program (mostly, these are upper level English courses). Otherwise, students may take GCU online or Lakewood courses at the Communiversi tuition rate, or GCU may offer additional courses (not offered by Brookdale) at Communiversi of interest to students in the program (if warranted by enrollment).
