Brookdale Ranked Safest College Campus in NJ

December 13, 2011

Brookdale Community College has been designated the safest campus in New Jersey by StateUniversity.com, a site that features comparative data on colleges and universities in the United States.

In a Nov. 22 press release, the site stated, "School safety ratings at StateUniversity.com are based on campus crime statistics as reported by 450 of the largest U.S. colleges and universities. Each college's safety score, which can range from 0 to 100, is calculated based on the number and type of campus crime reported during the calendar year. The underlying statistics are compiled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

The police department at Brookdale Community College operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Dr. James Sulton the Executive Vice President of Administration Operations and Information Technology Services explains, "Brookdale Community College has the enviable benefit of a sworn-in officer police force. The officers that comprise this force are well trained educated professionals that nurture the safest collegial environment in the state."

In addition to the Lincroft campus, security officers are on duty during times classes are in session and maintain security at all locations, including Freehold, Hazlet, Long Branch, Neptune, and Wall.

StudentUniversity.com has consistently ranked Brookdale Community College in the top 50 U.S. Community Colleges.
