

High School Partnerships: Monmouth County Arts High School

What Is Monmouth County Arts High School?

The Arts & Education Center opened an Arts High School for Monmouth County students in January 2004. Monmouth County Arts High School conducts classes at Brookdale's Bayshore Higher Education Center and offers a program for talented students in grades 9-12. Students audition and are selected to the program which runs from January to May. Students are released from their home high school to attend a 3 hour class, once a week, for a fourteen week term. Students are taught by the Arts & Education Center's faculty of teaching artists. The students are bussed from their home schools to Brookdale's Bayshore Higher Education Center and then back to their home schools. Brookdale Community College credit is offered for select courses offered by Monmouth County Arts High School.
