

OPTIONAL PRACTICAL TRAINING

Definition

Practical training is an opportunity for hands-on experience related to one's field of study. Optional practical training (OPT) must be authorized by the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) during the following times:

1. during your annual vacation and at other times when school is not in session, if you are currently enrolled, are eligible for registration and intend to register for the next semester;
2. while school is in session (not to exceed more than 20 hours per week);
3. after completion of degree requirements.

You may be eligible for optional practical training in your field of study if you have been maintaining F-1 status at the time of the request and you have been a full-time student for one academic year.

At the Associate Degree level, you may be authorized for up to twelve months of optional practical training. Additionally, you may become eligible for another twelve months of practical training when you change to a higher educational level. Students who transfer and complete a bachelor's, master's or Ph.D. in certain science, technology, engineering and math fields (STEM) may be eligible for an additional twenty-four months of OPT.

Part-time optional practical training, 20 hours per week or less, will be deducted from the available twelve-month period at one-half the full-time rate. (i. e. six months of part-time practical training will equal three months deducted from the total twelve-month period.)

You do not need an offer of employment to apply for optional practical training. Immigration currently has no formal provision for revoking practical training authorization once it has been approved.

Your Obligations During Optional Practical Training

You are required to immediately (within 10 days) report the name and address of your employer, any change of name, address and employer, or disruption of employment to the immigration service. You will be provided with access to the Student and Exchange Visitor Program (SEVP) Portal.

SEVP will automatically email you with a unique link to create a Portal account when the status of your request for OPT in SEVIS changes to 'Approved' and is active. The email will be from do-not-reply.SEVP@ice.dhs.gov, with the subject line, "Optional Practical Training Approval - the next step. Create an SEVP Portal account." The only way to get to the Portal registration pages is to use the link in the email.

During the OPT you may not be unemployed for an aggregate of 90 days or else, you violate your F-1 status.

IEC Obligations During Optional Practical Training

The IEC is responsible for advising you and helping you to comply with your reporting obligations while you are on OPT.

At the port of entry, you will be required to show your form I-20, your EAD card, a valid passport and visa, and proof of employment in the U.S. You will not be permitted entry unless you are entering to begin or continue OPT employment. Also, while engaged in optional practical training after completion of your degree, the re-entry signature is only valid for 6 months.
