At just 3 years old, he would approach strangers to examine their car keys, identifying different brands by their logos. His passion for racing was ignited at the age of 5 when his father took him to witness The Grand Prix of Baltimore, an experience that left an indelible mark.

By the age of 7, Christian was deeply entrenched in the world of go-kart racing, dedicating much of his time outside of school to honing his skills on the track. Throughout his formative years, he competed in various national circuits, consistently securing top positions in prestigious events like the USPKS and WKA.

Christian's love for racing extends beyond karting, encompassing Formula 1, Indy, Formula-e, GT, and Rally racing. His thirst for speed led him to unforgettable experiences, including driving on the Palisades race track in Jamaica under the guidance of professional racer Peter Rae.

Transitioning from kid karts to larger Cadet karts marked a significant milestone in Christian's racing journey, propelling him into higher levels of competition. With dedicated coaching and relentless determination, he continued to excel, making podium finishes regionally and nationally.

Beyond the racetrack, Christian's intellect shines brightly in STEM subjects, where he is recognized as "profoundly gifted & talented" with an impressive IQ of 147. Despite his academic prowess, he remains grounded in the joys of childhood, indulging in games and fun activities like any other kid his age.
